Pastor Phil Robertson

It is a great privilege to welcome a group of students from South western Adventist University to lead us in worship today. These students have come to Lubbock with a very special mission on their hearts...to lift up the name of Jesus. It is exciting that they have been willing to invest their weekend in travel and ministry, and we are the beneficiaries.

Southwestern Adventist University is the institution of higher education operated by the Seventh-day Adventist Church in the Southwestern Union Conference. For more than 125 years there has been a school at Keene, Texas. This school has been a very important part of the growth and mission of the church here in the southwestern states, and also all around the world. We are grateful for, the continuing impact that this very special university makes on their students year after year. The Texico Conference is blessed to be able to employ quite a number of theology and education majors and we believe that the pastors and teachers who come from Southwestern are the very best available.

Today we will be blessed by a message from one of the letters of Paul to the Church at Corinth that will be shared by Jonathan Aguinaga, a senior Theology major. The passage that he will speak from reminds us of how committed this apostle was to his calling to take the good news of the gospel to the Gentiles. He is always careful to keep the focus completely on Jesus and His power to save everyone who comes to Him.

May this worship service and the sermon study empower each of us to be living ambassadors, 'earthen vessels' who have experienced the power of God in our lives and who are anxious to share it with others. May God bless you all.

Pastor Phil

But we have this treasure in jars of clay to show that this all-surpassing power is from God and not from us.
2 Corinthians 4:7 (NIV)

DIFFERENT, BUT THE SAME

COVID-19 has disrupted pretty much everything. And it is also changing the world forever. While we don't know yet what all those changes will be, we do know that 2020 will go down in history as a pivot point for civilization. The way we greet people is different now, new ways to communicate have emerged, education and healthcare have shifted, even new patterns of daily life have evolved for mundane things like grocery shopping and getting a haircut.

And how we "do" church is different now too.

Our worship, our community outreach, our evangelism—all have been impacted by this invisible yet powerful virus.

So let's not spend time preparing to return to a world that no longer exists. Let's find and be thankful for fresh and novel opportunities.

And let's remember
that we are still—always—called to fulfill the same mission of sharing God's love
to those around us.
